Slow For Output of Aircraft

Indecision From Top Level Said To Check Speed On Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate defense investigators said today an excess of gadgets and top level indecision have slowed down military aircraft production and prevented the development of adequate air defenses for the United States.

The highly critical report was the latest of a series from the Senate armed services preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

In order to speed aircraft production to meet a possible Russian atomic attack, the report suggested appointment of a full-time production czar by the President and an overhauling of present basic defense legislation.

Some of the same recommendations were made last November by the same defense watchdog group but Chairman Johnson, in a separate statement, indicated they had not been carried out.

Lack of Decision

Johnson said the airpower buildup has been slowed down by a "capacity for indecision which at times has reached amazing levels."

Although the Defense Department did name a production czar, Johnson said, "he did not receive the necessary authority and eventually was reduced to the status of a job holder part-time." Aides of Johnson said this was Clay Bedford, industrial leader who was named special assistant to the secretary of defense.

The new report asked appointment of "a full-time production czar with powers to determine priorities, to freeze designs to the necessary extent, and to order quantity production initiated, so that our minimum air requirements are met as quickly as possible."

The report also called for a greater share of federal funds for air power and less for ground and sea arms.

The report was sharply critical of constant changes in models and additions of gadgets and gimmicks to aircraft designs. It said there was a need for design freezes and mass production.

"A tendency toward 'gimmickerie' has loaded some of our planes with gadgets to a point where their effectiveness has been decreased," the report said.

No such delays face Soviet Russia, the report indicated, saying:

"When the Russians stop making tractors and start making tanks they can ill afford to permit such end items to become obsolete."

Some comments in the body of the report appeared more withering than the conclusion and recommendations.

An example:

"As will be demonstrated, the history of our air buildup is a saga of bad programming, neglected warnings, lack of co-ordination, abuse, misuse, and disuse of power, bad advices to the executive, and a general refusal on the part of our governmental agencies to pull together or work together in a dedicated way to strengthen our air arsenal."

Even two years after the surprise Communist attack in Korea, the report said "we have far less than the first-line aircraft we need."

It added:

"In our opinion, no business organization would countenance the excuses and self-serving justifications for either the unrealism of the schedules established or the inability to meet even the reduced schedules.

"Despite attempted legerdemain with charts and graphs, nothing can obscure the fact that our planners have failed miserably. They have continually erred in setting production goals."

The report said the Air Force in June, 1951, planned monthly production of 1,050 aircraft, later stepped this up to 1,400 a month but cut it back in January of this year to 800.

M. L. Shaw Is Found Dead of Bullet Wound

Green Ridge Man's Body Was Beside Truck at Lake

Marvin Leroy Shaw, 56, of Green Ridge, died instantly either late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning as result of a self-inflicted gun wound. Shaw, who was discharged recently from the Veterans Hospital in Topeka, Kan., was found beside a truck he used for sleeping quarters, which was parked near the WPA Lake located two miles east of Green Ridge.

Shaw was found about 5 p. m. Wednesday by Andrew Carlson, Green Ridge, who had seen the truck parked by the lake the previous day. Carlson had seen Shaw pull in by the lake on Tuesday, but as the lake is used for fishing he paid little attention until Wednesday, when he saw the truck still there. Carlson went over to the truck and found Shaw near it, with a gun wound in his abdomen.

The weapon which was used to inflict the wound was a revolver, which was loaded with a .410 shot gun shell.

Some of Shaw's relatives said that he had been in extremely poor health the past several months, and that he had worried about it.

Dr. C. Gorden Stauffacher, Pettis County Coroner, was called to the scene to view the body. Dr. Stauffacher said from all appearances the man had been dead since Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning. He also termed the death suicide and said that no inquest would be held.

Shaw was brought to Sedalia in the Ewing ambulance and was taken to the Ewing Funeral Home.

He is survived by one brother, Lawrence B. Shaw of Green Ridge; two sisters, Mrs. Velda Robinson, nurses home at the Bothwell Hospital, and Mrs. Robert Johnston, Washington D. C. Other survivors are—Mrs. Kenneth Dick, 13th and Kentucky; Mrs. Roy Ragar, Green Ridge, Mrs. John Butterwick, route 4, Sedalia and Miss Mary Frances Shaw, Washington, D. C. all nieces.

Shaw was born in Green Ridge in January of 1896 the son of the late Walter and Emma Shaw. He was in the U. S. Navy for many years and served in the army in World War II. He was a member of the Green Ridge post of the American Legion.

He had spent several years farming in the Green Ridge vicinity and had also spent several years on the West Coast.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed pending word from his sister in Washington, D. C.

Funeral Be Saturday

Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian Church in Green Ridge at 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

The Rev. Walter P. Arnold, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, will officiate.

Post 491, American Legion at Green Ridge will be in charge of the military services at the grave.

Interment will be in the Green Ridge Cemetery.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home where it will remain until the hour of the service.

On Round-World Flight—

Bryan Reports

Djakarta One of the Hottest of the Hot Spots of World and Natives of Indonesia Appear Bitter and Even Suspicious Toward America

By Rev. David M. Bryan Pastor of the First Christian Church of Sedalia, Now On Round-the-World Tour.

DJAKARTA, Indonesia—No two days have ever shaken my sense of security as has the experience of these past few. Never before have I felt the world in which I live reel and rock as violently, not even during the darkest days of the late war. Here I am in a colored man's world where one really becomes aware that the time is fully here when the thoughts and aspirations of the teeming millions of colored men are vastly significant.

I owe my real awakening to Willie Tan, an Indonesian manufacturer and an active political leader in Djakarta. I met Tan in Sydney where we were both grounded a full day by engine trouble. We spent a day and a night together there at the Oriental Hotel and then traveled together to Djakarta. Tan was not only thorough versed in Indonesian politics but was equally well informed on world affairs. He was of wealthy ancestry and held degrees in several foreign universities. My friendship and conversations with Willie Tan is the most significant experience I have had thus far — signficant because he was able to express in words what untold millions of oriental illiterates feel with passion.

Suspicious and Bitter

Despite our feeling that we are benevolent "big brothers" of the distressed peoples of the East, the Willie Tans of the world are suspicious and even bitter toward America. They identify us with the ruthless capitalistic exploitation that has been the chacteristic experience of this part of the world. When he flayed America's attitude toward the colored man both at home and abroad, I came to her defense by insisting that his judgments were too harsh. Immediately he fung back the taunt: "Outside of South Africa, no land in the world treats the colored man with less respect. We of Indonesia are colored people and we know that we can expect nothing from the U.S. She will help us for a price when it suits her purposes and she will desert when that is most convenient." Before I even had time to object he reminded me of the thousands of yellow American citizens who were dispossessed of their homes and placed in "concentration" camps without due process of law. He spoke of the 14,000,000 American Negroes without full citizenship, permitted to perform only menial labor "as though they were only work animals." "America treats her own colored citizens like animals and servants. Why would foreign colored peoples be stupid enough to expect anything from her." He said that in the Philippines just after the war he saw public park signs reading Filipinos and dogs not allowed."

I asked what Indonesians would do in case of war between the U.S. and Russia. "I would urge my people not to fight," he said. "We have nothing to gain either way and our people would be killed and our land devastated for nothing." He pointed to Korea as an example.

Says "Nothing to Lose"

I then tried to argue that Russian damnation was Indonesia's terrible alternative but Willie Tan only shrugged and replied, "We have nothing to lose. Communism gives us equality." I urged that it was the equality of puppets and slaves, but he insisted that Communists were servants of a political ideal and not of white men. "A people's government doesn't humiliate you and treat you as animals because your skin is colored."

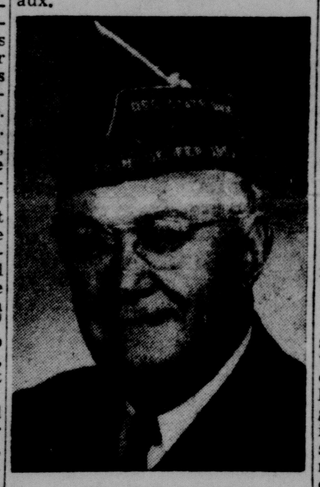

Conversations with men like Willie Tan makes one feel that the West may yet have to pay a terrible price for its racial policies of the present and the past. For centuries about three-fourths of the world has patiently borne the "colored man's burden." The sleeping giant is now arising to demand his place in the sun. He demands dignity and the self respect of full membership in the human race, and he has the latent power to get what he demands. To me the important consideration is not whether Willie Tan is altogether fair and accurate in his judgments. Rather it is the fact that so many millions of people feel and think just as this Indonesian leader does.

The political and economic scene here in Djakarta is one of extreme unrest and instability. Here the right and left struggle for power while a more moderate middle of the road coalition government holds the balance of power. Underpaid soldiers are almost forced to live off of the people. Nothing can be predicted except that the present situation cannot endure for long. This is one of the hottest of the hot spots of the world. No one feels safe here even on the streets of Djakarta. The people long for stability and security and they will have it, one way or another.

New Chief of 40 & 8 Is John O. Newberry

Missourian Is Elected to Head The Fun Group

John O. Newberry, Jefferson City, well known in Sedalia has been elected to the top office of the American Legion fun-loving branch, the 40 and 8 at the national convention being held in New York. Newberry was elected as the chief de chemin de fer. He succeeds George Boland of Omaha, Nebr., as head of the group officially known as La Societe des Quarante Hommes et Huitt Chevaux.

John O. Newberry

Newberry actively engaged in the savings and loan business as executive officer of the Home Building and Loan Association of Jefferson City, he has been a visitor in Sedalia many times and has many friends here outside the 40 and 8. He has served the Missouri Savings and Loan League as a director and chairman of the board seven years, and in 1948 as president.

A 59-year-old veteran of the first World War, he served as a Sergeant in the 82nd and 2nd Army divisions in France.

The new chief chemin de fer was president of the board of advisors of the Missouri School for the Deaf at Fulton, Mo., seven years, and a member of the army advisory committee.

Missouri Voiture in 1921

The 40 and 8 was organized in Philadelphia in 1920 at the state convention of the American Legion and grew rapidly throughout the United States. The grand voiture of Missouri was organized in 1921 at Kansas City, with one Kansas City group and one St. Louis group furnishing the original body. Today, there are twenty-one voiture locals in Missouri.

The organization has an outstanding child welfare program and each year contributes $50,000 for use in the American Legion Welfare program. The 40 and 8 also strongly supports such organizations as the Boy Scouts of America, nurses' training, Boys' State, Girls' State, junior baseball and other programs. In addition, the 40 and 8 gives summer picnics and parties for underprivileged children and takes them to circuses and other places of amusement.

Guards Prepare To Break Camp

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn (AP)—Members of the 35th Division of the National Guard were packing equipment here Thursday, preparatory to breaking camp after two weeks of summer field training.

Maj. Gen. John C. McLaughlin, Sedalia, commanding general, reviewed the training of the Missouri and Kansas guard unit. He said this was the best summer camp since the division was reactivated in 1948.

First units of the division are to leave here shortly after midnight Friday. The troops will be moved on 15 special trains and 21 motor convoys. The last guardsmen to leave will be members of rear detachments from Southeast Missouri, who will return home next Tuesday.

Fugitive Is Sought In Hills

Intensive Search by Land and Air for William Martin Near Pacific, Mo.

PACIFIC, Mo. (AP) — Roadblocks, bloodhounds and a patrol plane failed today to trap one of the FBI's ten most wanted fugitives, William Merle Martin, in rugged country near here.

The all-out manhunt began last night after Martin, 42, was believed sighted during a wild automobile chase by state highway patrolmen.

The fugitive, believed armed, is sought in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Willard Carver, near Olathe Kas., last June 23.

Terms in Prison

Martin, who has served terms both in the Missouri penitentiary and the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., fled into a cornfield 40 miles west of St. Louis after a pursuing highway patrolman had forced his car into a ditch.

Three bloodhounds from the state reformatory at Jefferson City, joined an all-night search by state highway troopers and FBI agents. At daybreak a highway patrol plane joined the hunt, shuttling slowly back and forth over the heavily wooded area and keeping radio contact with the patrol's cars.

But the bloodhounds lost the trail after going about a half mile into the woods, circling back to the highway.

The search centered in a 20-mile square area about 30 miles southwest of St. Louis and a few miles from this small town. A heavily wooded reservation is in the area. Police said the terrain is so rough a man might be able to hide for days.

Highway patrolmen set up a car cordon around the area; established roadblocks and 12 troopers, equipped with portable radiotelephones roamed the woods. All cars on highways in the area were stopped for inspection.

Residents in the area were warned to be careful—a dangerous fugitive was at large. Farmers patroled their places, armed with rifles and revolvers.

Capt. Lewis Howard of the Highway Patrol said pursuing troopers got a good look at the man before he fled and that he answered Martin's description — red-haired, about five feet, eight inches tall and weighing 170 pounds.

In Speedy Chase

The chase at breakneck speed began when highway patrolmen saw a Chevrolet bearing an Alabame license plate speeding west of St. Louis on U. S. Highway 66. The fleeing car pulled away from them. It was a half hour later when they picked up the car again, doubling back toward St. Louis. The car had the same license number as one stolen in Alabama.

Martin, known under at least eight aliases, has a police record beginning in 1929 in his hometown of Joplin, Mo. He became known as the "pillow case burglar" because he carried off his loot in a pillow case. He escaped from the Missouri prison in 1931 and from the state prison hospital in 1940.

Martin was last reported in Birmingham, Ala., where police arrested Roberta Rae Carter, 31, described as Martin's traveling companion. She told officers Martin had accompanied her to Birmingham.

Troopers J. L. Duncan and R. V. Shaw set off the chase about 11 p. m., last night after they became suspicious of a car going west out of St. Louis on U. S. Highway 66. The car suddenly took to a sideroad and doubled back on U. S. 50.

Another trooper, H. V. Groff, took up the chase and closed in. He forced the driver to ditch the car and flee into the rugged country on foot.

The State Highway Patrol had 14 troopers in the area today. They were joined by FBI agents and county officers.

Carver was slain in a gunfight with two men when he sought to question them on a lonely road concerning their stalled truck.

Charles W. Isgrigg, Joplin, was captured shortly after the shooting and has been charged with first degree murder. Isgrigg told officers he had been with Martin.

Martin served two terms in the Missouri state penitentiary and another in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas.

Earlier this month Martin was reported in several western states.

Sgt. William S. Barton of the Missouri State Highway Patrol departed Sedalia at 3:10 a. m. today in the State Highway Patrol plane to fly over the wooded area near Pacific, Mo., in search of William Merle Martin, fugitive.

Sgt. Barton is one of several State Patrol pilots and has one plane stationed in Sedalia. He took off from the Jack's flying field about 3:30 a. m. and arrived over Pacific as dawn was breaking.

Near Pacific another State "rooper was picked up to assist Sgt. Barton in "spotting" the territory.

Claim of Spy Ring Active in Montreal, Can.

Paper There, The Gazette, Has Story On Red Agents

MONTREAL, Canada (AP) — The Montreal Gazette claimed today a Communist spy ring of apparent refugees from Iron Curtain countries is operating in Montreal, gathering secret information on defense industries.

The newspaper's front-page story said government officials were giving serious consideration to the reported ring but first official comment denied knowledge of the report.

"It's the first I've heard of it," said Canadian Minister of Justice Stuart Garson. "I don't know whether it's true or not." The minister added, however, that if he did know, he would not disclose it.

The Gazette quoted two informants as saying Red agents in Montreal had asked them to transmit secret data on defense industries in the area. The newspaper said the names of the informants must be kept secret to protect relatives still behind the Iron Curtain.

Their story, as reported by the newspaper, said:

The spy ring was formed three years ago, its main elements being Communist agents who posed as bona fide refugees coming through Germany.

On arrival in Canada, the agents settled near defense industries and received assignments from "keymen" — Russian-trained Communist party members in charge of cipher departments of consulates and other diplomatic establishments of Iron Curtain countries.

The ring in Montreal consisted of two immigrants from Czechoslovakia, one from Poland and one from the Ukraine.

Truman Replies To the Legion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman today replied to the American Legion's demand for the dismissal of Secretary of State Acheson by calling him the best man for the job in the United States.

Truman told a news conference that the Legion resolution criticizing Acheson was gotten up by some young boys.

He said they got it passed by a silent vote. He did not explain what he meant by that.

Truman went on to say that if the Legionnaires had the responsibility for picking the secretary of state they would pick the best man in the country for the job.

That man, Truman said, is Dean Acheson.

Mrs. Gehrig and Kipp were incorrectly identified as Democratic officers in a roundup of district meetings yesterday.

Pulls Fire Call Box; Learns Better

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—A 12-year-old country boy in town to buy school books turned in a false fire alarm.

He was given better information and sent home.

Slack Denial Of Any Part in Report Made

Judge Moore Says No Interference in Grand Jury Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators today received a sworn statement from Federal Judge George H. Moore that the Justice Department interfered with grand jury investigation of tax scandals at St. Louis last year.

Moore quoted the late Drake Watson, the U. S. attorney at the time, as saying that Ellis N. Slack, then a Justice Department tax attorney, "wanted" the partial report the grand jury returned. That report gave the tax collector's office a clean bill of health and has since been termed a "whitewash" by one of the jurors.

Slack in Denial

Slack is now acting assistant attorney general in charge of the tax division. In the witness chair before the House Judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department, Slack had just denied vigorously that he was in any way responsible for the patrial report. He declared:

"I wish to emphatically state that the idea of a partial report was not mine, and that I had nothing to do with its drafting or its contents."

Four members of the grand jury testified earlier this week that they were under the impression the justice Department wanted the report as it was made to District Judge George H. Moore.

Said Report Whitewash

Collis T. Lovely, one of the jurors, asserted the report was a whitewash of the situation.

The report said the jurors had found nothing wrong in the handling of tax cases in the St. Louis area. Judge Moore called it "astonishing" and charged the jury to continue its probe.

The continued inquiry eventually brought indictment and conviction of James P. Finnegan, the district tax collector, on charges of misconduct in office.

Slack, a career official in the Justice Department, appeared before the grand jury during its inquiry in the stage before the partial report was returned.

Slack is now acting head of the Justice Department's tax division.

He told the House subcommittee: "I have had 23 years of government service. I can truthfully say that during that time I have never done anything to hinder, slowdown or block the returning of an indictment."

Reviews Procedures

Relating the relations he said he had with the St. Louis grand jury, Slack said he reviewed for the grand jury the procedures governing the handling of tax cases by the Justice Department.

He said he discussed with the jurors a number of cases and "at that time the grand jury indicated that they were satisfied that these cases had been properly handled and said they did not desire to hear further from me along that line."

Slack added: 'I vigorously deny that I told the United States attorney the report was 'just what I wanted.'"

Drake Watson, the U. S. attorney now dead, has been quoted to that effect.

Slack discussed at some length reports that he "approved" the report. He has asserted that he did not because it was not within his functions or powers to approve it.

Adali And Ike Start Punches

Both in New York; Meet Leaders to Map Strategy For Campaigns

By The Associated Press

Gov. Adlai Stevenson's first major addresses indicate his campaign strategy will lean heavily on a four-punch attack emphasizing "you never had it so good" and an attempt to stamp his Republican presidential opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as a "me-too" candidate.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, in a speech at the American Legion Convention and in another delivered last night at a Democratic rally near Asbury Park, N. J., hit hard on these points:

1. Prosperity—"The people of this country are better off than they or any other people have ever been."

2. Me-tooism—"On domestic policy, only now are they (the Republicans) slowly and reluctantly accepting the ideas successfully sponsored by the Democratic party years ago. . . . It looks more and more to me as though they are going to stand on our program."

3. Foreign policy — "The Republicans are split wide open on foreign policy. . . . Some of us are reluctant to admit that peace cannot be won by some clever diplomatic maneuver or by propaganda."

4. McCarthyism—"I am not in the delicate position of another candidate for high office, who faces the ticklish problem of whether to swallow his principles and endorse all the candidates running on the same ticket with him."

Support McCarthy

Eisenhower has said he would support Sen. Joseph McCarthy, the controversial Republican senator from Wisconsin, if McCarthy is renominated. But he added at the time he would not give blanket endorsement to any one who "does anything I believe to be un-American in methods or procedure."

Some have charged that McCarthy has gone too far with certain accusations connected with his Communists - in - government drive.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) said yesterday in Seattle that Eisenhower's proposed support of McCarthy was based on the general's recognition of the importance of Republicans winning control of the Senate.

Knowland said Eisenhower would be under a "terrific handicap" if he were elected without such control, and added: "In this year's close race, the party can't afford to lose a seat in Wisconsin."

On foreign policy, Stevenson's statement that the GOP program was about as firm as "a bushel of eels" drew a quick retort from GOP Sen. Mundt of South Dakota, who said the Republican platform is better than "what Stevenson is attempting to do—to stand on a bushel of red herrings."

President Truman once said that certain charges of communism-in-government were just red herrings.

Both Eisenhower and Stevenson continued mapping campaign strategy today in New York, conferring with party leaders and supporters.

Eisenhower scheduled a busy day, bolstered by word that he count on a "surprising" labor vote.

Richard J. Gray of Albany, N.Y., president of the three-million-member AFL Building and Construction Trades Department and a long-time Democrat, told Eisenhower yesterday he believed his and many other labor organizations were swinging to the general.

Oil Lands Issue

Outside the main political arenas there were these developments:

The governors of Texas and Louisiana made strikingly similar statements concerning Stevenson's opposition to state control of submerged oil-rich coastal lands:

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said Stevenson's stand on what is known as the tidelands issue—made public Saturday—is not the only reason he won't vote for him. Another is that he believes Stevenson will continue such Truman policies as compulsory FEPC and health insurance, high spending and taxation, and centralization of powers in Washington.

He hinted that Eisenhower's name might even be put on the Texas Democratic party ticket as a presidential nominee—if Texans indicated they wanted this.

Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana giving a first public glimpse into how he feels about Stevenson, said the candidate's stand on tidelands is just "strike two" against him. "Strike one": He is too close to Truman.

Sen. McCarthy, who said earlier he would be unable to campaign for re-election because of a recent operation, apparently has changed his mind. He announced yesterday he plans a major campaign speech in Wisconsin Sept. 3.

The girls, above, try an auto trainer used in the tests while Delain Reynolds of Rodinson, Ill., looks on.

Precautions for Safety Near Prison Bring Attention

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A convict's recent assault on an aged woman focussed attention again in this capital city on a perennial problem:

How to live in peace and safety alongside the state penitentiary.

Willie Porter, 29-year-old negro convict, was the latest offender to bring the subject to the fore. He admitted in a signed statement that he raped a 70-year-old white woman only a block from the prison after getting drunk on wine and whisky.

"Got the Devil Into Him"

How could such a thing happen? Willie himself didn't know. He told B. Marvin Casteel, head of the state corrections department, he thought the devil must have gotten into him.

Willie will be tried in circuit court soon on charges of felonious assault, burglary and escape. He's already serving five years for robbery with a deadly weapon.

Before he went berserk, Willie was a model prisoner without a blot on his record. He was considered such a good risk that he was one of the 989 trusted men allowed to live outside the walls of the penitentiary proper. The rest of the prison population of around 3,000 is kept behind high stone walls all the time.

Willie lived in "L" hall, near the prison but outside the walls. About 149 men stay there.

336 at Algoa

Some 336 stay at Algoa intermediate reformatory east of here, where there are no walls. Another 246 are quartered at the Church farm west of Jefferson City, 193 at prison farm No. 2 across the Missouri river in Callaway county and 56 at a Callaway county sawmill operated by the prison. Nine others have miscellaneous jobs outside the walls.

For all of these trusted convicts, there are only 22 guards at the various farms and honor buildings. They are not armed.

The prison as a whole has 212 guards under its present appropriation and Casteel says that is about 30 short of enough to provide "maximum security." The guard jobs pay $154 to start and up to $196 when funds are available for regular increases as provided by the state merit system.

The turnover is terrific. Last year replacements had to be found for 180 of the jobs.

How He Became Trutsy

Going back to Willie Porter—how did he get to be a trusty? And what made him go bad? Casteel has an answer for the first question but he won't venture a guess on the second. Who knows? he asks.

Like all other prisoners entering the big prison, Willie got the works when he went in—deloused, "mugged" by the photographer, complete physical examination and an interview with a caseworker who dug into his family, educational and vocational background.

The result was a report which went to the prison's classification committee. They are the officials who decide what job will best fit the prisoner's background and whether he can be trusted outside the walls.

Each prisoner's record is reviewed periodically and any prisoner can request an interview to seek a change in his status.

Casteel says each man is told that it's his own responsibilty to behave before going to an "outside" job at one of the farms or other places. It is to their advantage to have a good record and pile up "good time" to gain an earlier parole.

No known sex offenders can win trusty status.

In Willie Porter's case, there wasn't a thing to show that he might be a bad risk. He had never been in trouble in the prison and his work record was good.

"What made him go wrong? I don't know," Casteel says. "You just can't guess right on these boys all the time."

System Deemed "Foolproof"

By and large, Casteel feels the system is about as foolproof as it can be made under present conditions. Of course, you could keep all the prisoners under lock and key all the time, but Casteel thinks that would be a poor solution.

"Two main things cause trouble in penal institutions—idleness and poor food. You've got to keep these men busy and you've got to feed them."

Besides 7 dairying, farming and lumbering at the outside farm, the penitentiary operates a shoe factory, twine plyant, automobile license tag factory, shirt factory, pants factory, print shop, furniture and upholstery factory, canning factory, slaughterhouse, ice plant and power plant.

Some of the products go to other state institutions, some are sold to augment the prison's earning fund. But the main function of the prison industries is to keep the men busy.

Casteel is the first to admit that it's a big job and a tough one. He doesn't blame the people of Jefferson City for being outraged at the Willie Porter case.

"But," he says, "I think the institution is being run better now than it has been for years. Sure, we'll always have an occasional man go bad on us. No way in the world to prevent it."

Casteel says he has no plans to change the trusty system, but he would like to have better lighting in the prison and in the prison yards. He's going to ask the legislature to do something about that.

And he plans to ask—again—for more money for guards. The prison population now is about 200 more than it was a year ago, and it's still going up.

Even in cases where trees were sprayed and that didn't bring results the slug slot is reported to be ridding the trees of worms, which resemble cabbage worms.

Steel Strike Cost 12½ Million Man-Hours of Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported today that strike idleness in July cost 12½ million man-days work, largely because of the steel strike.

This was the greatest idleness reported due to strikes for any month since October, 1949, except the 14 million man-days of idleness in June, when the steel strike was in full swing.

The number of workers on strike during July was 850,000, compared with one million in June. (End Adv)

Glamorous Gloves Fill Needs Of Both Beauty and Fashion

By ALICIA HART

NEA Beauty Editor

Gloves are the keynote to your fashion beauty this fall. They come in an exciting variety of colors, patterns and materials.

So important, in fact, are the new patterned styles, that most have an added matching accessory of a scarf, a hat, or both, to make a smart ensemble.

One gay glove — designed to spark the dark colors of your autumn wardrobe — is a double-woven cotton pull-on featuring "Morse Code" stripes. It is available with black stripes on red, topaz, copper, maple, olive or oatmeal; gold stripes on black; white on navy; navy or red on white.

Of course, you'll want to prepare for such glove glamor by keeping your hands velvety smooth, and your nails nicely rounded. Rough skin and pointed nails will only catch and tear your gloves.

Plan your glove wardrobe for its versatility and fashion focus. Think, too, of the shape of your hands. If your fingers are short and stubby, for instance, choose gloves that give a long, slender line. Accent graceful hands with ultra-feminine glovewear.

Properly chosen—the gloves you wear will serve as beauty as well as fashion accessories.

AP Made An Error In Finnegan Story

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—(AP)—The Associated Press reported erroneously in a Washington story yesterday that James P. Finnegan, former Collector of Internal Revenue at St. Louis, had been convicted on two counts charging bribery and misuse of office.

Actually, Finnegan was acquitted of bribery charges and convicted on two charges of misconduct in office. He has appealed the conviction.

There was reference to Finnegan in yesterday's story about a House subcommittee investigation of the Justice Department's handling of tax cases before a grand jury which ultimately indicted Finnegan.

Army of U.S. Has Grown to 1,550,000 Men

Weapons Better and Progress Is Made In the Korean War

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of the Army Pace said today the Army has made "substantial and heartening" progress since the start of the Korean War.

Back only a few days from inspecting American troops in Europe, Pace made the statement in a speech prepared for delivery at the National Convention of the American Legion, which today elects its national commander.

Regarding the state of the Army, Pace said the facts "fairly lead to a conclusion of cautious optimism, tempered by the consideration of tenuous problems that lie ahead."

In the 26 months since the Korean conflict began, he said, the Army has grown from 593,000 men to more than 1,550,000.

"Our training system," he said "is second to none in the world."

"The quality of our leadership," he went on, "as well as the numbers (of officers) available, is substantially better than when we started out buildup for World War II."

Weapons have improved too, Pace said, "and the potential of the atom will in the future be added to our firepower in the form of guided missiles and artillery."

Asserting that while rotation "represents the best in the capacity of a democratic nation to readjust itself to a problem it never faced before—the problem of half-peace and half-war," the secretary said it poses big problems. In the year ending July 1, 1953, the Army will lose 750,000 men under the rotation plan, Pace said, and continued:

"That means that while we pour 750,000 men into the trained reserve, the Army faces the Herculean task of training 750,000 new men—most as basic trainees, but some as specialists.

"This means that the whole Army will be turned into a gigantic training base, fighting to hold combat readiness, but pressed in every sector for training replacements.

"To do this and continue our rotation of combat soldiers from Korea is going to strain every nerve and sinew of the Army."

The Legion, electing a new commander, found political battle lines drawn between two major contenders.

POLITICAL INFLUENCE—Mrs. Ben. R. Isenhower poses at Chattsworth, Ga., with her week-old son, Adlai Stevenson Isenhower. The child was christened for the Democratic presidential nominee. The Isenhowers have another son, Dwight David Isenhower, 8, who was named for General Ike whose forces were then spearheading the European coastal invasion. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Study Be Made On Toll Turnpikes

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A special legislative committee has decided to see for itself how toll turnpikes are working in eastern states.

The committee, headed by Sen. William M. Quinn, (D) of Maywood, announced today its members will leave Missouri by automobile Sept. 27 for a ten-day inspection of turnpikes in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and other eastern states.

The committee is studying the feasibility of a cross-state toll road in Missouri to hook up with a similar Oklahoma project. Part of the Oklahoma pike, from Tulsa to Oklahoma City, already is in operation.

SUB RESCUES DISABLED BLIMP—A disabled Navy blimp, its propellors and power plant damaged when it accidentally hit the water in a simulated attack on the submarine USS Sear Poacher, hovers near the water as it is taken in tow by the underseas craft July 11. This picture has just been made available. The sub managed to haul the blimp to the safety of Florida's Boca Chica naval air station despite high winds and rough seas, completing a 22-hour rescue maneuver unique in naval annals. Upsurge in Polio The Past Week

WASHINGTON (AP)— A weekly record total of 3,503 new cases of infantile paralysis was reported to the U. S. Public Health Service for last week.

Announcing this today, the service said the previous record for any one week since it has kept reports was 3,416 for a week in August 1949. That was the year in which the highest annual total was recorded.

Despite the upsurge last week from 3,110 cases in the preceding week, this year's cumulative total since Jan. 1 ran 547 below the 1949 figure for the same period. There have been 19,980 cases this year and 20,527 in the 1949 period.

Since shortly after the end of World War II, when materials again became available, linemen of the Missouri Public Service Company have erected 1,235 miles of power lines and connected 5,000 customers.

Some of this activity brought electricity into new areas. Other crews were assigned the task of improving existing lines to accommodate heavier loads.

The company employs 48 linemen and apprentices to help perform the vital task of delivering electricity to your doorstep. It is these men who sometimes are called upon to leave dinner table or sleep, in ice storms or blizzards, to keep electric power surging through the lines or to restore service as quickly as possible.

Pictured here is Herb Schultz, chief of a line crew stationed in the Sedalia area. Like his companions, he has ignored personal comforts in facing the elements when there was a job to be done.

He and his work, and the work of his cohorts, are outstanding reasons why you can place your confidence in the men and women of the Missouri Public Service Company.

Awards Made On Shorthorns

The 1952 "Golden Jubilee" Missouri State Fair Beef Shorthorn exhibit was near 100 in numbers and of excellent quality according to L. A. Weaver, Columbia, judge. Herds from Nebraska and Illinois gave the Missouri breeders keen competition and Aksarben Acres, Omaha, had junior yearling and grand champion bull and Elmcrest-Lo-Mar Farms, Sharpsburg, Ill., had reverse on a two year old.

Miller and Keighin, Banvers, Ill., had the senior and grand championships on a two year old heifers. Reserve female was won by Elmcrest-Lo-Mar on a senior calf.

Ribbons were pretty well scattered and it was best Missouri show in many years, according to Don E. Miller, veteran superintendent of the beef cattle department. Miller's assistant this year was Arthur Bennett, Cameron, who reported a total count of 645 beef entries including 4-H and FFA club exhibits.

DIETING DADDY—No food with his meals for 59 days may win this husband and father $22,400. Sealed inside an 11-by-7-foot room in Brighton, England, Irish-American hypnotist, Jack Wafer is cheered on by his wife Audrey and baby daughter Michelle as he begins his 20th day on a diet of soda water and cigarets. He expects to drink 120 bottles of soda and smoke 3500 cigarets during his stay in the room which is furnished with a bed, two chairs, a radio and telephone. Wafer hopes to beat the previous fast-record of 58 days set by Germany's Willie Schmidt.

Shot in Struggle Over a Pistol

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A wealthy television manufacturer took a plane for an undisclosed town in Iowa with his 20-month-old baby yesterday after his blonde wife took two shots at him and missed.

Police quoted Mrs. Howard R. Vermillion, 29, as saying she intended only to frighten her husband. Vermillion, 45, told officers she shouted: "If you come into the house I'm going to kill you," when he appeared at the door of their home.

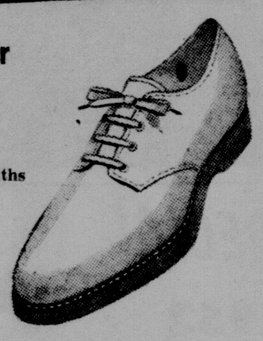

She was treated at an emergency hospital for leg abrasions which she said she received in a struggle with Vermillion for possession of her pistol. She was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, but was released later when Vermillion did not appear to sign a complaint.

Bomb Supply Centers of Foe Near Capital

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — U. S. Air Force bombers rained new destruction on Communist supply centers near Pyongyang, the capital of North Korea, Wednesday night after planes from three U. S. Navy carriers—including the newly repaired Boxer—bombed Red power plants in the Northwest.

The fury of the aerial strikes was in sharp contrast to light action along the 155-mile battlefront. The U. S. Eighth Army's evening tactical summary Thursday was the shortest of the war—21 words:

"U. N. patrols engaged enemy units up to a platoon in strength, as action continued light along the Eighth Army front."

A briefing officer said that didn't mean it was the quietest day of the war.

The Navy said the Boxer and two sister ships off Northeast Korea, the Essex and the Princeton, sent up 222 individual flights that dumped explosives on the huge electric plant at Chosen and other facilities from Kojo to Chongjin.

In a flaming raid on Sohung, 50 miles south of Pyongyang, 15 B26s unloaded destruction on a Communist supply center after civilians had been warned to flee. Pilots reported 25 fires and three large secondary explosions in the target area.

Twelve B29 Superfortresses bombed a 115-acre supply dump at Sopo 13 miles north of Pyongyang, and two B29s hit a rail yard at Chinnampo, 20 miles southwest.

Five B26s bombed an enemy supply center near Chunghwa, south of Pyongyang, and 16 other light bombers cratered a main supply road east of the Red capital.

The U. N. Command announced in Tokyo that combined Air Force and Navy aircraft losses since the war began 26 months ago now numbered 1,572 planes against confirmed Communist losses of 642. An additional 143 Red planes probably were shot down and 620 damaged, the Air Force said.

The Navy claimed its pilots damaged 88 Red planes. That would make a total of 1,493 Communist planes destroyed or damaged.

FLOATING "LANDING FIELDS"—Part of the record-breaking job being done in Korea in bringing casualties safely to hospitalization is due to such ingenious devices as the floating platforms seen moored to the hospital ship U.S.S. Donkey Cart Operators in the Dumps Over Taxes and Fines

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The donkey cart owners of Somaliland are down in the dumps and up in arms over new taxes and fines imposed by city officials.

They want U. N. headquarters to do something about it. They complain that there's many a day they don't earn a single brown cent, and how come these new taxes?

The complaint was handed over to the three-member U. N. Advisory Council for Somaliland by Ossoble Omar Ibrhaim, Siad Omar Araleh and Omar Isman Gebril, "all residing in the village of Wardigley, Mogadishu, on behalf of the Somali and Arab cart-drawn-by-donkey owners."

The advisory council sent the complaint on to the U. N. for examination by the U. N. Trusteeship Council, which keeps tabs on the trustee administration of Italy in Somaliland.

The three complainants say they pay their yearly tax on time for the kind of goods carrying work "that we patiently await, day after day, and sometimes weeks and weeks, to earn our daily bread."

On top of that, they say, the village officers are always levying fines on them, chiefly on the grounds they can't produce their tax licenses.

"We would like to point out that, owing to the large size of the licenses, one cannot carry it with him," the complainers plead, "especially if one has to earn his living looking after a cart drawn by a donkey, because such a license will inevitably go astray or become dirty.

"Further, when one finds a load, he has to take up on his shoulders to the cart the goods, and this is not an easy task, permitting him to take care of the license. The shop-keepers have always ready their license when requested, and we know that. But it must be considered also the fact that shop-keepers do append their licenses on the walls of their shops, even though their business is a sedentary one.

"It would be needless to say that today this trust territory lacks from commercial activity, since this fact is well known to you. However we wish to draw your kind attention to fact that, once there is no commercial activity, for the owner of cart, is not an easy task to find transportation of goods. The only source of possible finding goods for transportation is the Somali maize and millet market.

"From there, one cannot rely on finding his daily bread, so far as the arrival of such goods in the market is not frequent.

"The same case applies also to buyers. And thus, one goes back to home in the evening without having earned a single-brown cent, while his numerous family were expecting something to eat. This may continue for days after days."

Now, the complaint goes on, the city is imposing a daily tax in addition to the yearly license fees and the fines. The pleaders say that the police arrest and beat any group of four that gathers. At least two cart-drawn-by-donkey leaders have been arrested and their release was asked for.

Strike to End With Goodrich

CINCINNATI (AP)— The B. F. Goodrich Co., last holdout of the "Big Four" rubber companies, last night reached an agreement with the CIO United Rubber Workers which would end its 11-day strike.

Already in the fold were Firestone, Goodyear and United States Rubber. So were General Rubber and Seiberling.

More than 16,000 URW workers had walked off their jobs in nine Goodrich plants throughout the United States. They had already agreed on a 10-cent hourly wage increase, but could not agree, until late last night, on fringe benefits.

L. S. Buckmaster, president of the powerful URW, said that before the strike can be called off at least five of the nine striking locals representing a majority of the members involved must approve the settlement.

The pact, signed after 12 weeks of negotiations here, calls for the 10-cent increase and a full union shop. Buckmaster said more than 112,000 rubber workers now have won the 10-cent increase since Aug. 9, 1952. Their hourly wage average is now $1.95, he reported.

"Every major rubber firm with which we have a contract now has a full union shop agreement," he said.

The new agreement is subject to approval by the Wage Stabilization Board and the URW's General Executive Board. Upon approval, the wage increase would be retroactive to Aug. 27. The new contract would run until Aug. 15, 1954.

The nine struck Goodrich plants were at Akron and Marion, O.; Oaks, Pa.; Miami, Okla.; Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Cadillac, Mich.; Clarksville, Tenn.; and Riverside, N. J.

Charged With Niece's Murder

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — John Lawrance, 37, was formally charged yesterday with the murder of Kathryn Wells, his 16-year-old niece, last Aug. 19.

The man originally was booked as Lawrence. The complaint yesterday gave the name as Lawrance, which is the way the family spells the name. The victim's name was listed as Wells, although she had informally adopted the name of her stepfather, Erwin Knodel. Her father is Wilfred Wells of Van Nuys, Calif.

Preliminary hearing for Lawrance was set for Sept. 16, but it may not be held if the grand jury issues an indictment. Officials said the matter will be presented to the grand jury today or early next week.

State psychiatrists examined Lawrance yesterday and reported "no sign of insanity."

Can We Afford to Spend Twice Missouri's Farm Income?

On the basis of population, Missouri's share of the proposed 1953 federal budget of more than $85,000,000,000 comes to about $2,240,000,000.

As sixth farm state, Missouri had a total farm income of $1,009,281,000 in 1950... somewhat less in 1951... and probably will have more in 1952.

So it would take more than twice the total value of all the corn, wheat, hogs, soybeans, and everything else produced on our farms to pay Missouri's share of the proposed 1953 federal budget.

It's high time to call a halt to government spending that's not included in our defense program. Government spending, other than for defense and foreign aid, proposed for 1953, is $23,700,000,000 — an increase of 50% over 1946.

One reason is that Washington planners propose to spend huge amounts for government-owned electric power projects, including unnecessary duplication of transmission lines. The government now operates 75 power installations, and is constructing 35 additional power plants. Soon 25% of the nation's total electric power capacity will be under government control.

Not only is the original cost of government power huge, but continued expansion of government-owned power projects threatens the existence of investor-owned public utilities. If these utilities are driven out of business, you and other taxpayers will have to make up with your tax dollars the $1,150,000,000 a year now paid by utilities for federal, state and local taxes.

Taxpayers can't afford wasteful government duplication of power facilities already in operation. Write your Congressman — make your stand clear against federal encroachment on any American business.

Kimball For Keeping Up of Sea Power

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Kimball today asked the American Legion to help keep America strong on the seas.

"You can help us," he told Legionnaires at their national convention, "by supporting our requests for appropriations to create and maintain the strong armed forces this country is going to need as long as aggression stalks the world."

Kimball followed Secretary of the Army Pace in the list of speakers for this morning's convention session. In their prepared remarks, both extolled the merits of their respective services.

The Legion today elects its national commander. Lewis K. Gough, 44, Pasadena, Calif., and Walter E. Alessandroni, 39 Philadelphia, are major contenders.

The Navy secretary said the nation has increased its investment in its armed services about 100 billion dollars in the last 20 years, adding:

"For the richest nation on earth, I think this is a more or less modest investment in national insurance. The total investment is less than one-third of one year's national income, and while of itself, it is a tremendous amount of money, I do not believe it is excessive.

"The stakes are high in this battle for freedom in which we are engaged and it cannot be won with tokens or I. O. U's."

Kimball said the Navy should now have four carriers of the Forrestal class under construction instead of two and "it is my hope that the third or fourth vessel of the Forrestal class will be atomic powered."

The keel of the 60,000 ton, 200 million dollar Forrestal was laid July 14 in Newport News, Va. It has been announced that a second vessel of the same type will be built at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

"Two of these ships are not enough," Kimball said. "We are going to ask Congress for more of them."

Congress whittled President Truman's $944,300,000 budget for Navy construction to $511,935,000, and permitted construction of the second, mammoth carrier only on condition that the navy make up for its cost with economies elsewhere.

Kimball reiterated his belief that strong naval forces "are the most economical forms of national security insurance." But he added that no branch of the service can be short-changed "without throwing the whole scheme of our defense out of balance and running the risk of a national disaster."

Back only a few days from inspecting American forces in Europe, Pace said the army has made "substantial and heartening" progress since the start of the Korean War.

Kresge Store To Be Double Present Size

Store Rooms to Be Remodeled South Of Present One

The S. S. Kresge Company will begin construction work to make its store here twice as large, Harry S. Naugel, store manager, announced today.

Cramer and Schrader Construction Company of Sedalia has been awarded the general contract and construction work is scheduled to begin immediately after Labor Day.

Kresge's take over the space formerly occupied by the Reed and Steck Drug stores, south of its present store on Ohio avenue on property owned by Mrs. Katherine C. McGrath of Sedalia. The land is part of the old block number five of Sarah E. Smith and Martha E. Martin's first addition to the city.

Counter space will be increased by 440 linetl feet and be untilized for a new read-to-wear department, complete infant's, boys, and men's departments and enlarged horticulture and lamp-and-shade departments.

"Through these greatly enlarged departments," Naugel said, "and by expanding our lines of merchandise in all our present departments. I feel we will bring this growing community a complete one-stop shopping center for every member of the family."

The new area, 47 feet wide and 71 feet deep, will be connected to the present store by three 8-foot wide archways.

Plans also call for modernization of the store front by covering it with porcelain enamel steel in a mottled rose color. A new sign of red neon-lighted letters will spell the store name across the store front.

Construction work, to be completed by early November, will be supervised by J. A. Clarry of the Kresge construction department. Plans were drawn by Kresge's design division under the direction of Emil G. Jehle.

The present store will remain open for business throughout the construction period.

Britain to Make Reply to Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A government spokesman said today Britain has agreed to reply by Sept. 3 to the Iranian offer to discuss compensation claims arising out of nationalization of the 1½ billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

The spokesman said this promise was made yesterday during a three-hour conference of U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson and British Charge d'Affaires George Middleton with premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

The spokesman would make no other comment on the conference. Informed sources in London said Henderson and Middleton sought to break the long-standing British-Iranian deadlock with proposals involving U. S. economic aid to Iran, a lifting of the British blockade on Iranian oil sales abroad and negotiations on the compensation claims.

Impetus For A New Party

NEW YORK (AP)—The idea for founding a new party—which believes in "save America first"—has stirred tremendous response, former Rep. Hamilton Fish said today.

The proposal for a new American party to oppose "new dealism" and "internationalism" was made recently by Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago publisher.

Fish told a reporter hundreds of Republicans have messaged their enthusiasm for the idea on grounds that the present Republican leadership is little different from the Democrats on "basic issues."

"The difference is only that between tweedle-dee and tweedle-dum," Fish said. "There's no difference on foreign policy — both favor internationalism— and little difference on domestic policy. They both favor many of the socialist policies of the new deal."

Kiwanis Talk On "Freedom"

"Freedom or Slavery" was the subject of a talk by the Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church, before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

His talk concerned the sense of defeatism among many Americans disturbed over the trend of governmental affairs and the encroachment of Communism, the incapacity of labor and capital to settle economic and industrial problems, the minority blocs feeding at the public trough, dishonesty in government, and the weakening of the foundation of democracy by the termites of greed. He urged business and professional men to abandon the idea nothing can be done to correct this trend by devoting intense interests in politics and the men chose to serve in government of this nation.

The speaker was introduced by Herman Pack, program chairman.

President Walter Kennedy gave a report on the Kiwanis International convention he attended in Seattle.

Divergent Views To Stevenson

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson's views on the tidelands issue made him "less palatable" to Gov. Robert F. Kennon and has made GOP candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower "more palatable".

Kennon gave this opinion, the first time he had indicated his thinking about the Democratic presidential candidate, at a press conference here yesterday.

He indicated that Stevenson's stand had enhanced Eisenhower's chances in Louisiana, where the oil-rich coastal areas are a vital political issue.

Stevenson said last week he was opposed to any "blanket cession" of off-shore oil reserves to individual states.

Kennon, an anti-Truman Democrat, made it clear, however, that he had not made up his mind about the presidential contest.

GOP Sets Up TV And Radio Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans plan to spend up to two million dollars for radio and television time for their national ticket of Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon.

Robert Humphrey publicity director of the Republican National Committee, said today Eisenhower or Nixon will appear on 15 to 20 national radio and television programs. Before the presidential campaign is over, Humphreys said, they will appear together on a couple of TV shows.

The figures closely parallel Democratic plans. That party's national committee already has contracted for more than 1½ million dollars worth of broadcast time and may buy more.

Weapons at Billion Cost Are Planned

Some of Orders by Atlantic Would Go To Great Britain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States tentatively plans to order a billion dollars worth of weapons, military equipment, and supplies from North Atlantic Pact countries during the year ending next July 1.

The offshore orders will cover planes, tanks, ammunition, electronic equipment, auxiliary combat ships and other gear, mostly for European armed forces.

Informed officials disclosed the size of the new offshore procurement program after special Ambassador William H. Draper revealed in a report to President Truman that orders totalling $683,800,000 have already been placed. The billion dollar program now being drafted would be in addition to this.

Draper's report disclosed that some of the new orders will go to Britain for production of its famed Centurion tank "for certain NATO countries." These countries were not identified but they are believed to be France, Italy and Belgium.

In addition, the United States plans to contribute "slightly more than half," officials said, of the 400 million dollar aircraft production program for European factories.

These officials declined for security reasons to divulge what other weapons would be produced overseas. But it is believed that the bulk of the money will go to build up ammunition factories needed for Atlantic Pact armies.

The American government already has disclosed that 186 million dollars will be given to France to finance production of weapons and military supplies during the next fiscal year. Some of this covers auxiliary combat ships.

Congress approved $3,128,000,000 in European Military aid for the year ending June 30, 1953, as part of the $6,447,000,000 foreign aid bill. The total also includes over one billion dollars of "defense support" money to buy the raw materials needed to prime European factories.

Woods Will Make Survey

New Price Boss To Check On What Public Wants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tighe E. Woods, the nation's new price boss, said today he will ask the President to lift price controls if he finds the public does not want them.

He told reporters he will make his determination of the public attitude by touring the country next month. He said he'll ask housewives and others what they think about controls.

But Woods emphasized that he, personally, believes the price curbs should stay in effect.

Woods takes over as director of the Office of Price Stabilization next week, succeeding Ellis Arnall.

"Many say that the people don't care about controls," Woods said. "I want to find out whether there is an apathy toward the Office of Price Stabilization program or whether the people just don't understand it.

"What I want to get is the direct reaction of the people. I am sure they do not like the continued rises in the cost of living.

"If I find there is no interest in price controls throughout the country, I certainly would recommend to the President that controls be taken off and the money be put to other use."

And, Woods said, if he finds that housewives just don't understand how the controls program works to hold down living costs, he will "come back to Washington to mold the agency's program to suit the needs of the public."

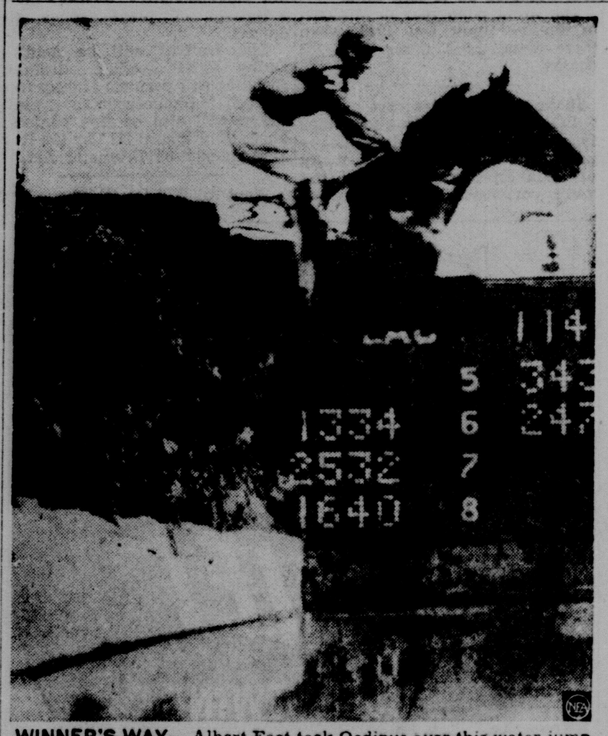

The price control law is due to expire next April 30. It is a watered-down version of the original law and was pushed through Congress in its closing days last June with many Republicans clamoring for a complete halt to the curbs.

Woods conceded that he did not know whether President Truman has the power to order an end to controls—"but I believe he can."

Blackwell to The N.Y. Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees today purchased Ewell Blackwell from the Cincinnati Reds for an unannounced sum cash and pitcher Johnny Schmitz.

General Manager George Weiss of the Yankees, who announced the deal, said several other players, now in the minors, might be involved in the transaction.

Blackwell, who will be 30 in October, is in the midst of a disappointing season with the Reds. He has won only three games and lost 12. Recently recovered from an illness, he has not pitched in three weeks.

Schmitz, 31, is a veteran left-hander who came to the Yankees last month from the Brooklyn Dodgers. He has split two decisions with the Yanks after winning and losing one for the Dodgers.

Eisenhower's Name May Be On Texas Ticket

AUSTIN Tex. (AP)—Texans had a hint from their governor today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's name might be placed on the state Democratic party's ticket as a presidential nominee.

Gov. Allan Shivers indicated such a possibility in a radio address last night in which he said tidelands oil was not the only issue on which he based a decision not to vote personally for Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee.

Shivers repeated previous attacks on what he called "Trumanism." He said he thought Stevenson "a better man than Truman" and would if elected give a better administration.

"Yet his views on Texas tidelands are an indication that he . . . would continue to hold the views Truman and people around Truman have established," Shivers said.

"Oscar Ewing (federal social security administrator) and his views on socialized medicine are rolled up in the same package, along with a continuation of a stalemated foreign policy, a continuation of the highest spending and highest taxation in the history of this nation and a continuation of central government powers concentrated in Washington," Shivers said.

"Those who have seized the great Democratic party," the governor continued, "have misued it, absorbed it and changed its history, its policies and its traditions."

He asked Texans to tell him what they want to do as citizens. "How do you want to vote?" he asked.

State Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senate to succeed Sen. Tom Connally, is among many Texas Democrats who have recently written Shivers asking for a double set of democratic presidential electors. One group would be those pledged to Stevenson.

Shivers predicted the State Democratic Convention in Amarillo Sept. 9 would "make such arrangements as you people of Texas desire to be made."

He hinted that Eisenhower's name might be put on the Texas Democratic ticket with Stevenson's name on the national party ticket.

"Their right to vote for the candidate of their choice is a basic freedom of the people," he said.

Shivers first expressed opposition to the Stevenson candidacy last week when the Illinois governor declared himself against any "blanket cession" of tidelands oil to the states. Stevenson at the time said he favored some sort of compromise solution to break the present stalemate.

Eisenhower has said he would favor legislation by Congress giving the states control over their submerged oil riches.

Educators Oppose University Setup

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese educators are protesting against the 60-odd universities set up after the war on grounds there are too many. The government said some will be "screened" and closed, if they "disqualify."

An educational official, who asked that his name not be used, stated the educators' case: "All these universities were built on the gasis of an unrealistic American idea that every perfecture should have at least one university —apparently because every American state has one."

As of a year ago, Japan had 222 universities with an enrollment of 361,338, or an average of 1,630 students. At least 64 of those schools were built after the war.

Polio Not So Severe in State

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—It looks like a "polio year" in Missouri but apparently the disease is not so severe here as in other parts of the country.

Eighty-three new cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) were reported to the state health division last week. They brought the total for the year to 273. That compared with 197 cases up to the same time last year.

During all of last year 717 cases and 53 deaths were recorded. So far this year, the fatalities have been tabulated only to June 15 with four reported up to that time.

The worst polio year in Missouri in modern times was 1949, when there were 1,319 cases and 133 deaths.

Shakespeare Festival Set

LONDON (AP)—Only a few steps from the site of the long-disappearing "Globe" where many of Shakespeare's dramas first were performed, the Southwark Borough Council this month honors Shakespeare's memory with a festival of plays, songs and dances.

The festival will be held at Duthy Hall. Leading dramatic societies will perform nightly from various Shakespearian plays. There will also be five performances of "Richard III" by the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

him moving. On the morning of Aug. 25 the French tanks and American doughboys engulfed Paris like a resistless tide.

German resistance crumbled quickly, but the city was loud with singing bullets. Every Frenchman seemed to have seized his grandfather's horse pistol or rifle and begun firing it wildly at everyone he suspected, including probably his landlord. Mortar chips fell throughout the city, and no place was safe.

A line of sweating German prisoners was marched through a taunting mob, and one Frenchman stepped up and smashed a German in the mouth and called him "pig!" The blood ran from the German's mouth, and I will never forget the hate and fear in his eyes. A disciplined soldiers always hates and fears a mob.

Oh, but then all Paris erupted with joy. The patriots and suspected collaborationists will fired at each other from the rooftops, but on the streets the crowds danced...and there was champagne...and flowers...and kisses everywhere.

"Any guy that didn't get kissed today," said one soldier, "is an exhibitionist."

Ah, Paris, Paris! No one who missed her on the day she drank the wine of freedom ever knew Paris at her peak.

Record Trip Over Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — Wing Comdr. Roland Beamont, first man to pilot a plane across the Atlantic and back in a single day, says, "Everything went off so amazingly to timetable that I don't believe it."

The 32-year-old Royal Air Force ace and two other crewmen made the Atlantic roundtrip yesterday in a Canberra twin-jet bomber in seven hours, 58 minutes and 35.18 seconds flying time.

On the 2,072-mile return flight from Newfoundland to Ireland, land, the plane set a new west-to-east record, covering the distance in three hours, 25 minutes and 18.13 seconds.

Will Take Back Mrs. LeTourneu

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Virginia LeTourneau's patient ex-husband Armand says he'll take her back "for the sake of our 10-year-old son."

Virginia, 28, took a 10,000-mile tour with a 17-year-old neighbor boy, Jimmy Sherwin. They were arrested in Arizona last month.

Yesterday, in jail, the woman kissed and made up with LeTourneau, 30, from whom she won an interlocutory divorce prior to her love-flight.

"Everybody," said Armand, "makes mistakes."

Virginia will stay in jail, however, at least until Sept. 10. That's the day she's to be sentenced on her plea of guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

German Educational System Is Being Revamped by West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Germany's educational system, which ssrved Adolf Hitler as a tool of tyranny, has been revolutionized in the West zone and is now making steady progress toward democracy, the State Department reported today.

"Educators have had to climb out of their ivory tower and come down to earth," a department survey sai.

"German youth today is growing up in peace and neighborliness with democratic ideas and practices and with a healthy interest in the people and problems outside its own small world," the survey added.

'Gay Paree' and Charmaine Memories for Veterans

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Do you remember in Paris when—"

That is a phrase that crops up often among veterans attending the American Legion convention here.

Gay Paree? The very mention of her name brings a glint to the eyes of every man that knew her in wartime. For Paris was the silver foxhole of two world wars—the greatest leave city in history. She had a bit of happiness for every visitor in uniform.

"I was there on a pass in 1918," says the grey-haired veteran with a paunch. "I sat down at a table at a sidewalk cafe, and this girl came over to talk to me, and—honest go God—her name really was Charmaine, and—"

"You think Charmaine was something," breaks in the younger vet. "You oughta seen her daughter in 1945. It must have been her daughter, because I met her at a sidewalk cafe, too. She was like a double martini in skirts, and—"

And others pitch in, and the lie-swapping goes on for hours. Every soldier is sure he saw Paris at her peak, and the things that happened to him never happen to anybody else in quite the same way.

I feel that way, too. But the first time I saw Paris she was no lovely lady in a summer frock. She was a fierce fighting lass, with her gown torn from one shoulder, a gun slung over the other, and her hair streaming defiantly in the wind.

It was the day the Allied liberators marched into Paris — eight years ago this week

For days the underground French patriots had been building street barricades at night and fighting running gun battles in the streets with a panicky German garrison.

The Nazis began to fire indiscriminately...they pulled a half dozen Frenchmen into a courtyard, tried them and shot them on the spot...the rioting only spread...a home-made bomb—a bottle of gasoline—was tossed into a passing Nazi troop truck, and the enemy soldiers rolled off onto the pavement and died in flaming, screaming agony. French cheers echoed from nearby windows.

A great Allied task force was dispatched by Gen. Omar N. Bradley. It was spearheaded by a French armored division so that Frenchmen could have the honor of liberating their own capital.

But the Gallic tanks lumbered slowly. Every few hundred yards they stopped to be garlanded with flowers, and the tankmen crawled out to get a kiss and a bottle of wine from the suburban Charmaines.

Finally, the French general was bluntly told to fight his way on into the city or the American Fourth Infantry Division would march in ahead of him. That got

Chiefs to Meet Moberly Here At 8 Tonight

Sedalians Defeat Miners Wednesday By Score of 16-12

The Sedalia Chiefs evened up the five-game playoff series with the Moberly Miners for the championship of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League, by taking the second game, 16-12, at Moberly. The Chiefs enjoyed the donation of the Miners of 11 unearned runs.

Unlike Tuesday night when the Miners came over to Sedalia to beat the Chiefs in a shutout contest of 2-0, the Chiefs capitalized on 11 errors of the Miners to offset the long distance hitting attack of Moberly. The Miners outhit the Chiefs 13-10 and likewise out-errored the Sedalians 11-1.

Score Runs With a Hit

An example of how the Miners fell apart at the seams was the second inning when the Sedalians took advantage of everything that happened and scored five runs without a hit. But this didn't hamper the Miners' hitting department as Cal Voegtle hit two circuit drives with teammates Bob Bishop and Tommy Short each getting one. Ralph "Skip" Schulz of Sedalia hit one.

Bobby Brown, John Cochran and Bill Holst of the Chiefs each had doubles while Palmer made one for the Miners.

Schulz was on the mound for the Chiefs and gave up 12 hits for 11 runs in 7 1/3 innings and was relieved by Bobby Brown, who finished the game, giving up one run and two hits in 1 2/3 innings. The Miners used three pitchers, starting with Kellogg, who was touched for four hits, 11 runs in 5 1/3 innings, Gulick, five hits, five runs in 2 1/3 innings and Palmer only one hit in 1 1/3 innings.

The sudden upset at Moberly gave an inspiration to the Sedalians who are hoping to win the next two to end the series. If the teams split the next two games, then the fifth will have to be played.

Ban Johnson May End

Sedalia fans will have an opportunity to see the Chiefs in action tonight at Liberty Park in the third game of the series. It is possible the games played here in the playoffs may be the last of Ban Johnson in Sedalia. Lack of attendance, Cal Rodgers said, has caused a financial loss to the team such that it might not be possible to put the team on the field in Sedalia again.

The opening game played here Tuesday night had a crowd so small that actual expenses of the game were not met, much less the travel expense to Moberly Wednesday.

Tonight's contest should prove a well worthwhile game, as Moberly tightens up whenever playing in Sedalia and they'll probably have Iverson on the mound. Iverson is the lad who held the Chiefs to a shutout Tuesday night.

Olson Gets T.O. Over Hairston

NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Bobo Olson had his sixth straight victory today and a burning desire to fight Middleweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson again.

The clever, 24-year-old Hawaiian chalked up No. 6 with a six-round technical knockout over sturdy Gene (Silent) Hairston of New York in Madison Square Garden last night.

Olson staggered the 23-year-old Negro deaf-mute with a right to the temple in the third round and opened a deep cut over his right eye in the fourth round. That was the beginning of the end. Bobo popped one left after another at the wound, blazed over thumping rights to the head, and then barraged his game rival's body to keep him guessing.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello ordered the bout halted after the sixth as the blood-smeared Hairston wobbled to his corner.

It was Olson's 48th victory in 53 fights and his 24th knockout. He hasn't lost since Robinson narrowly outpointed him in their 15-round title fight in San Francisco March 13.

Army Team To Be Winner In Tourney

WICHITA (AP) — It's fast becoming a certainty an Army team will win the national non-pro baseball tournament championship.

Only two teams are still undefeated in the double-elimination meet and both are army clubs. The Brooke Army Medical Center of San Antonio, Tex., advanced into the fifth round Wednesday night by squeezing past Camp Atterbury Ind., 1-0. The loss was the first for Camp Atterbury, seeded No. 1.

Brooke will meet the only other unbeaten team—Ft. Myer, Va.—Friday night.

Another civilian team was ousted Wednesday night. The Alpine Cowboys of El Paso, Tex., dropped a 15-6 decision to the Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station. Camp Breckenridge, Ky., won the night's other game, eliminating the Ft. Meade, Md., Generals, 9-1.

The tournament, which began Aug. 15, is expected to end Sept. 1.

Thursday night's schedule (times central standard):

5:45 p. m. — Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., vs Casa Grande, Ariz., Cotton Kings (fifth round, loser eliminated).

8 p. m.—Ft. Ord vs Sinton, Tex. (fifth round, loser eliminated).

10 p. m.—Camp Breckenridge vs Los Alamitos Naval Air Station (fifth round, loser eliminated).

A Want Ad Will Do It! Phone 1000.

THIRTY NEXT STOP—Bobby Shantz promised not to do this again until he won 30 games. The pint-sized left-hander became the first major leaguer to win 20 when he turned back the Red Sox before an overflow crowd of 35,673. It was the Athletics' largest turnout in four years. (NEA)

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK (AP) — An official scorer broke into the news the other day when he changed a decision in the seventh inning and made it possible for Virgil Trucks of the Detroit tigers to go on and pitch a no-hit, no-run game against the New York Yankees.

We heard some criticism of this on the train next morning. Fellow seemed to feel that Trucks' no-hitter was tainted. Since when, he wanted to know, was it possible for a pitcher to give up a hit in the third inning and then, four frames later, have it changed by his fairy godmother into an error by his shortstop?

The answer was, and is, that it happens a good deal more often than you think, and that no blemish is attached to the sturdy Tigers' feat. Many a time during the season an official scorer does some careful checking on a particular play, becomes convinced he was in error in his original decision, and changes it before he sends the master box score into league headquarters.

After the game, if there is a doubt in his mind, he goes to the dressing room and talks to the man who was involved in the play. Perhaps he asks the opinion of other players.

The official scorer always is a working baseball writer who follows some club throughout the season. The job calls for considerable paper work, and the scorers are paid fairly well by the league treasurers.

Next to an umpire who calls him out on a close play at first, the ball player's greatest natural enemy is a scorer who robs him of a base hit. If he reaches base he is convinced it was a hit, even if an infielder first juggled the ball and then threw it into the dirt.

This is not difficult to understand. The loss of three or four hits over a season might easily make the difference between a .300 batting average and one of, say, .297. The difference could, in turn, mean a year's rent at contract signing time in the spring. Conversely, the infielder can wax equally indignant at being charged with an error when he is convinced that the blinking ball struck a pebble.

Yanks Stretch Their Lead to Two Games

Pickle Salesman Throws Sour One Into the Red Sox

By RALPH RODEN
AP Sports Writer

It would not be at all surprising to find the faces of General Managers Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox and Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians a bit red today.

The discomfiture of the general managers can be laid at the feet of Ray Scarborough, a 35-year-old pickle salesman from Mt. Olive, N. C., who is currently employed as a pitcher for the American League's pace-setting New York Yankees.

Fans in Boston probably are demanding to know why Cronin sold Scarborough to the Yanks. Those in Cleveland must be wondering why Greenberg passed up an opportunity to obtain the tall right-hander.

Scarborough gained credit Wednesday for the Yanks' 12-7 victory over St. Louis. The triumph enabled the Yanks to stretch their lead to two games over the second-place Indians in the pressure-paced race.

The Indians dropped back by bowing, 6-5, to Philadelphia. Boston's third-place Red Sox remained 3½ games astern as Mel Parnell shut out Detroit, 5-0. In the remaining American League game, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Senators, 4-1, under the lights at Washington.

Brooklyn stubbed its toe in its march to the National League pennant by dropping a 10-5 decision to the Chicago Cubs while the runner-up New York Giants sneaked by Pittsburgh, 5-4, to reduce the Dodger advantage to 9½ games.

In night games, Philadelphia smeared St. Louis, 7-2, and Boston downed Cincinnati, 12-7, in 10 innings.

Scarborough was procured by the Yanks from Boston on Aug. 22 for the $10,000 waiver price. All other clubs in the American League had a chance to obtain Scarborough before the Yanks but none nibbled.

Wednesday he entered the game in the third inning in relief of Allie Reynolds, who was tagged for five unearned runs in the second inning. Scarborough limited the Browns to three hits in four innings and was awarded the victory when the Yanks came up with four runs in the sixth to take a 10-6 lead.

Lefty Curt Simmons breezed to his 11th victory for the Phils in the night game at St. Louis. The Bend Mizell and Joe Presko for a 7-0 lead in three innings.

Hole-in-One For Harold Courtney At Country Club

There are holes-in-one, but very few "bullseye" holes-in-one, but that distinction went to Harold Courtney, 720 West Sixth, Wednesday afternoon when he dropped one on No. 7 "Little Dinky" at the Sedalia Country Club. The hole is 119 yards.

Courtney hit the ball into a looping arch and it dropped into the hole on the fly with a thud. Ninety-nine per cent of the hole-in-one balls will land on the green and roll into the hole.

Playing with Courtney were Emil Neef, Harold Dean, and Edgar McQuiddy, former Sedalian now of Chicago.

Jim Tom Blair Is Going Strong

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — A posse of straight shooting hombres from south of the border had Canada's amateur golf championship all but surrounded Thursday as the last 16 survivors hit the lumpy trail to the semi-finals of the 1952 tournament.

Led by sockin' Sam Urzetta, Wild Bill Campbell and Silent Bill Shields—known hereabouts as the "Big Three"—10 U. S. aces blazed a plain pathway through the hilly Capilano golf course Wednesday and paved it with busted pars.

Just six Canadians remained in the scrap for this morning's sixth round. With the field to be cut in half by noon, the eight still present then will play the 18-hole quarter-finals to pare the list to four by nightfall. Jim Tom Blair, son of Missouri's lieutenant governor was scheduled to play Campbell Thursday.

In Wednesday's play Blair beat J. Proctor, Vancouver, 5 and 4, and R. L. Moore, Vancouver, 4 and 2.

Eugene Zuspann, Goodland Kas. won his third round match, defeating R. W. Knowles, Aiken, S. C., 3 and 2. But he lost out in the next round, dropping a 5- and -4 match to Eddie Draper, Seattle.

Still Search for Missing Flyers

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — A search continued today for six missing B17 crew members whose plane was shot down by mistake into the Gulf of Mexico by one of the Air Force's new F86d jet fighters.

Two members of the crew, S. Sgt. Charles D. Jones of Meridian, Miss., and Airman 2C Peter D. Rosing of Ingleside, Ill., were fished from stormy gulf waters after floating 24 hours on a life raft.

Predict Record Freight by Air

WASHINGTON (AP)— Record passenger, mail and freight volumes are predicted by the airlines for 1952. But they expect an 8 per cent drop in air express.

The Air Transport Association, spokesman for the scheduled airlines, estimated yesterday that the lines will carry 22,300,000 paying passengers this year, 8.2 per cent more than the 1951 peak.

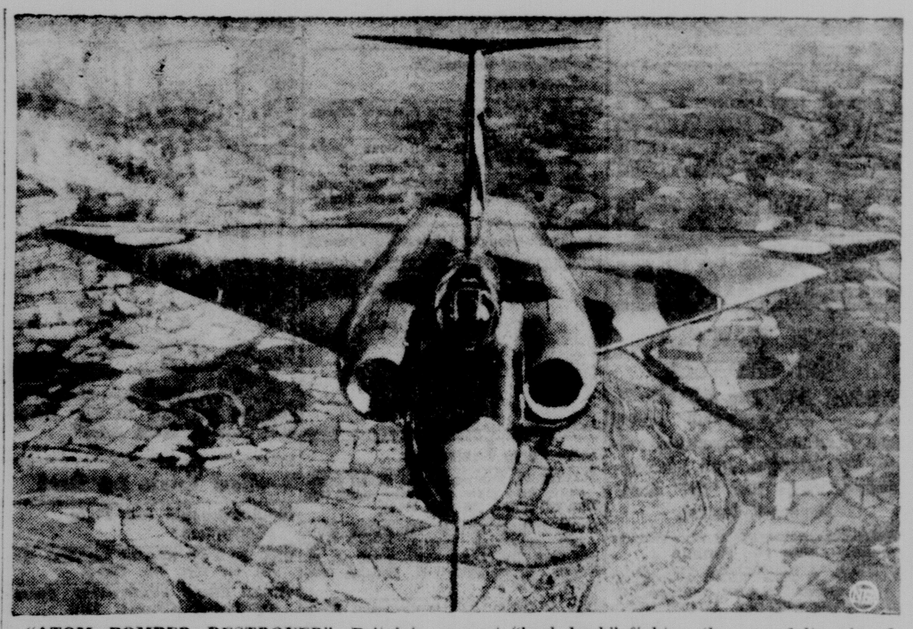

Four Brink's Guards Are Out of Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Brink's guards were out of a job today because they had lunch together last Monday.

While they were eating in a hotel cafeteria their unguarded armored truck was rifled of $65,000 in cash. The money was recovered next day with the arrest of Ray E. Farmer, 26, a former Brink's employe who had a key to the truck.

Farmer, a bakery truck driver, is being held in $40,000 bail on grand larceny charges.

Farewell Gift by Truman To Congress Budget Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman's goodbye gift to Congress will be a government budget the size of a big city phone book, important sections of which are likely to become waste paper within three days.

It isn't Truman's idea. A 1950 law requires him to give Congress a detailed estimate of federal income and outgo within 15 days after the opening of a regular session.

The new 83rd Congress, most of whose membership will be determined in the November elections, convenes next Jan. 3. The budget message must be at the Capitol by Jan. 17. At high noon on Jan. 20 a new President takes his oath and Truman becomes a private citizen.

At the same moment, the odds are heavy that key sections of the Truman budget will start heading for the congressional waste baskets. Regardless of who wins the presidency, it is unlikely he will agree 100 per cent with his predecessor's fiscal plan for the government accounting year which starts next July 1.

Nor is there time between election and inauguration day to do much about it. The President-elect, after recovering some of the energy spent in his campaign, presumably will want to start putting together the inaugural address which will sound the keynote for the beginning of his administration.

The budget, moreover, is no simple document a man can spread out before him and say, We'll cut so much here, and add so much to this program. This particular financial estimate has been under preparation by the Budget Bureau since last May. Long before that, each department was instructed by the White House to state its needs for the fiscal 1954, as the next accounting period is known.

It contains literally hundreds of thousands of items. By no means all of these are likely to be or even could be revised by the new tenant of the White House. A vast number of them represent continuing appropriations for such items as the public debt and statutory programs approved by previous Congresses.

However, it's big appropriations and authorizations for such matters as defense, foreign aid and veterans benefits that add on the top billions and prompt the inkiest headlines. Obviously it is there and in similar fields that the incoming chief executive would find the most fertile ground for revision.

There is nothing — except possible political differences — to prevent the new man from sitting down with Truman and discussing the need for this appropriation or the reason behind that estimate.

But it seems far more likely that the President-elect will want to feel his way more slowly and discuss the problems with his own advisers.

This appears to point the way to a series of supplemental budget requests later on. That was the way the matter was handled when Franklin D. Roosevelt took over in 1933 from Herbert Hoover. Congress can be asked to consider either upward or downward revisions in the estimates.

While the budget message must and will be sent to Congress, there is considerable doubt that Truman will choose to deliver the usual State of the Union address, although he could if he so desired.

There has been no commitment from the White house on this point. It seems more probable now that the gray-haired Missourian will not attempt to lay down a program for his successor.

Buys Boat to Go To the Sea to Die

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Told he had only six months to live, retired British naval officer J. C. R. Griffin bought a boat a few weeks ago and went to sea to die.

He sailed back to port here yesterday and announced he was "Completely cured."

Griffin, a former lieutenant commander, told reporters that doctors had given him only six months to live. He didn't disclose the nature of the disease.

For the first three months he did little but wait.

"Then," he said, "my wife and I agreed if I was under a death sentence, I might as well finish it at sea.

"We sold everything, bought a small ketch and set out to sea with our three daughters."

Griffin said their boat, the West Winds, struck a gale and broke down twice. Finally it went aground after a "nightmare voyage" along the West Coast of England.

"Now," said Griffin, "I am completely cured."

Griffin said he and his family plan to make the West Winds their home.

U.S. paper money in its present size was first issued in 1928.

Says Wedding For Citizenship

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Claiming his wife married him only to obtain American citizenship, actor Jack LaRue, 42, filed suit for divorce or annulment yesterday.

He and Edith von Rosenberg, former wife of an Austrian baron, were married in New York in 1949. After learning her real intentions several months later, LaRue said, he ordered her out of his house. He said he has heard she has returned to her home at Cardiff, Wales.

Museum Gets Private Support

ST LOUIS (AP) — The newly formed contributing membership society of the City Art Museum has made an initial donation of $10,000 to help build up the museum's art collection.

Ten persons each gave $1,000 for life memberships. Up to this time the institution had been the only major art museum in the country which operated without the support of private membership.

Sculpture Competition Set

NEW YORK (AP)—An international sculpture competition will be held by the Carlebach Art Gallery of New York.

Cash prizes totalling $500 will be offered. A selection of sculptures from the contest will be exhibited next spring at the gallery.

Ancient Frescoes Uncovered

RUSSI, Italy (AP)—Three frescoes almost 1,000 years old, were uncovered in a barn near here by General Pietro Pozzi-Siboni.

The frescoes were part of an ancient church which was turned into a barn when a new church was built in Russi.

The three frescoes represent three unidentified saints and are in excellent condition.

The invention of baseball is credited to Abner Doubleday in 1839.

Beer seems to have been used from the most ancient times in Babylon and Egypt.

Sailors Meet at Norfolk Port

It took quite a little while to get together, a lot of writing to their families to get locations and numbers but at last the meeting was accomplished and it was a happy one for two local boys. The boys are Tommy Joe Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller, route 4, Sedalia who is aboard the USS Newport News, Norfolk, Va., and Herbert Mittlehauser son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mittlehauser, route 2, Hughesville, aboard USS Henley, Norfolk, Va.

The meeting took place at Norfolk on a weekend liberty for both of them, according to word received by Tommy's parents.

The boys had been graduated from the rural schools at Georgetown together, then from Smith-Cotton and were both employed as machinist apprentices at the Missouri Pacific Shops entering service in the Navy.

J. R. Fields Brings In Huge Ear of Corn

J. R. Fields, eight miles east of Houstonia, brought an ear of corn to the Democrat-Capital which weighed 1½ pounds and measured 11 inches.

Fields said that the corn on his place this year was very fine considering the drought and he had 50 acres of the same sized corn.

Buildup For Schools Also For Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite labor's gains, President Truman says there is still room for improvement.

In a Labor Day statement he said:

"Many of our citizens—many of our working men and women—need more adequate protection against the great financial hazards of sickness, disability, unemployment and old age.

"We need more and better housing for our growing population. We must build up our schools in many areas. We must end the discrimination which has cast shadows on some parts of our great record of freedom. We must improve our system of collective bargaining to promote industrial peace and productivity.

"We must safeguard our national prosperity and keep our economy growing. We must safeguard our heritage of freedom against the attacks of totalitarian ideologies, both left and right. We must safeguard our national security, by building strong defenses at home and by working with other nations to keep peace in the world."

Truman paid tribute to the nearly 16 million Americans organized in unions, saying: "Their record is a tribute to the American system of free collective bargaining, which responsible trade unionism has developed to replace the old law of the jungle in our industrial relations."

Slowdown on Atomic Arms

LONDON (AP) — Britain's atomic arms program is being held up because the government's atomic scientists don't make enough money an all-party parliamentary committee reported today. Qualified scientists prefer to work for private industry at higher wages.

The report of the Select Committee on Estimates urged the government to raise salaries and improve working conditions for its atomic experts.

A top government scientists can get 2,000 pounds ($5,600) a year—good pay compared with average British salaries but small in comparison with the 3,000 pounds ($8,400) or more that industrial companies offer ordinary research men.

THERE'S 100 YEARS BETWEEN BITES—The youngster and the oldster above are far apart in time and space, but they both have the same idea—digging into their birthday cakes. At left, one-year-old Ornella (last name unknown) sits in her Rome, Italy, home, with her one-candled birthday cake, prepared to express her own ideas on how it should be eaten. A few thousand miles away, in Jacksonville, Fla., Thomas Morgan takes a big bite of the cake celebrating his 101st birthday. Morgan, raised on a Wisconsin farm, became an engineer at 35 and arrived in Chicago to see the first electric street lights installed. A Jacksonville resident for the past 28 years, he attended Sunday church services regularly until six months ago.

New Embassy At Luxembourg

PARIS (AP)—The United States is establishing a permanent "embassy" to Western Europe's Schuman coal-steel pool.

Mutual Security Representative William H. Draper announced last night that the U. S. representative to the six-nation organization now being set up will be William M. Tomlinson, an economic expert. He will be known as "acting U. S. representative to the European Coal and Steel Community."

The new U. S. Embassy will be located in Luxembourg, present home of the coal-steel group's executive authority.

Scratches Only To Babe in Blast

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—A 2-year old girl, hurled two floors and trapped for 30 minutes under debris of an explosion - shattered apartment, escaped yesterday with nothing worse than scratches.

Five other persons were injured, none seriously, when two mid-afternoon explosions ripped out the back wall of a four-story apartment house in the huge Abingdon apartment development.

Cause of the blasts was not determined, although it was reported they originated in a basement where new oil burning equipment was being installed.

The girl was Joan Hawkins, found under shaky wreckage by Rescue Squad Capt. L. W. Devers.

SCREENLESS TELEVISION—In order to keep sightless listeners posted on programs their neighbors talk about, TV experts designed the above pictureless set seen entertaining Marie Pellicano and Bernard M. Krebs of the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind. Experts say using the screenless set overcomes "psychological barriers" which build up between sightless persons and their sighed neighbors.

JUST LIKES SPEARING FISH—A pair of oxygen cylinders strapped to his back, Robert Travis Keagle of Minneapolis spears carp with a rubber-powered harpoon in Minnesota's Lake Minnetonka. This is called skin-diving in Florida, the Bahamas and California. The cylinders provide breath under 2000 pounds pressure. Keagle wears a water-tight viewing helmet. No game fish may be speared during the Summer, and the sport rids lakes of undesirable fish which feed on the spawn of game fish. (NEA)

NEW "WATCHDOG" BASES FOR WEST — The Western powers are setting up two important new bases in Turkey and Greece. As shown on Newsmap, they will anchor defenses of the northeastern Mediterranean region fronting on Russia. Izmir, Turkey, better known as Smyrna, will be the headquarters for the new Southeastern Europe Command. Salonika, main city of northern Greece, will become interim air headquarters for the eastern Mediterranean approaches. The new bases bracket the Dardanelles.

RED SATELLITES THREATEN TITO—The communist countries of eastern Europe with the aid of Russia have built up an air force of approximately 2000 aircraft according to the official Yugoslav International Review. Above Newsmap shows precarious position Yogoslavia finds herself in, with Soviet military strength stretched from Bulgaria in the east, to Czechoslovakia in the west. A large-scale program of airfield construction was also reported underway, with Russia believed building advance bases deep into Europe to be used when and if necessary.

Odds and Ends

Going to camp is all right when you are a youngster, but when you are older and aren't used to doing such things, the hills and mountains get higher and the miles get longer, thinks a Sedalia man who tried it with a bunch of Scouts.

Besides all the other complications of a camp, he let his whiskers grow for a couple of weeks and they really grew. They itched, got dirt in them and were very annoying all the way around. They were hot, too, because the weather was 102. Then came the time he was ready to go back to civilization and he thought he would shave them off. He had a new razor blade but it didn't do a thing. It merely pulled them out whisker by whisker and that wasn't so good. The only scissors he had were fingernail scissors and it took about an hour, clip by clip, to get them close enough to his face to shave them off. That he was using cold water to shave with didn't help either, but he finally got them off. From now on, as far as he's concerned, Santa Claus can have the whiskers. He has had enough.—H.L.

The martins left Aug 13, according to Undrill Renshaw. For about ten days they were gathering on the wires near the State Fair Floral Station. Every evening hundreds of them would gather there and then one morning they were all gone and that was the last that was seen of them. They had started their journey south.

On Aug. 20, however, four flew in, three swung on the wire near the martin house while the other went in and inspected the house. He could find no one there so the four thought they had better hurry up a bit—they seemed to be left behind — so away they went.

The next day three more stopped for just a moment and then went on.

And so the martins have left Missouri—and it will be the first breath of spring—mid-March—before they return again.—H.L.

After January, President Truman will discover a lot of things that will be expensive novelties for him. For example, if he wants to use up those loud shirts he has worn in Florida each winter, he'll have to pay his own expenses on the vacation.

McCarthyism Forces Lawyer To Sacrifice Comfortable Life

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NOTE TO EDITORS: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry - Go - Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being Len Schmitt, attorney, Merrill, Wisconsin.)

MERRILL, Wis.—When I decided to make the run against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in the Wisconsin Republican primary election, several of my friends in northern Wisconsin asked me why. They were as much appauled by McCarthy's record and by what has come to be called McCarthyism as I was, but their attitude seemed to be that I was foolish to disrupt my rather comfortable life to enter a campaign against such a ruthless adversary as McCarthy. On the surface this attitude made some sense.

During the years, I have built up a substantial law practice in Merrill, Wis., my home town. I have a comfortable life, including a fine summer home on one of Wisconsin's beautiful lakes near Hawyard. And on top of that, this particular year I was in a position to take it easy as far as my law practice was considered. But I could not let those factors influence me, because this fight against McCarthy and what he stands for goes far deeper than the physical comfort of a middle-aged attorney named Len Schmitt.

Under normal circumstances in Wisconsin, McCarthy wouldn't have a chance for re-election. His personal record is such that Wisconsin voters, reared in the tradition of the honesty and integrity of old Bob La Follette, would repudiate him utterly if it weren't for another factor on which he is relying and which must be fought to the limit.

McCarthy's record would mean political sudden death in Wisconsin under normal circumstances, but McCarthy is trying to cover it up with his shotgun charges of Communism in government and elsewhere. Here we come to the factor I mentioned earlier. McCarthy has resorted to the technique used by the propagandists of the dictators in recent years—in Germany, Italy and Russia.

He is trying to create fear and hysteria in a people rightfully concerned about the danger of Communism to our way of life. He is attempting to create the impression that anyone who opposes McCarthy must be a Communist or a fellow traveler. His charges are so outrageous (witness the accuations against Gen. George Marshall) that people are inclined to say that the claims must be true—the Goebbels technique. McCarthy makes so many charges that few citizens can keep abreast and so they do not examine each charge carefully to find the fraud.

In my opinion, this is an evil thing but the potential evil is the greater danger. McCarthy is, I believe, creating a situation which could result in something utterly horrible in this country—real thought control. I do not believe that McCarthy personally is capable of carrying this thing to its ultimate end, but there are others in this country who could and would. It is easy to see the signs,

I run into people in Wisconsin, for example, who have doubts about Paul Hoffman, head of the Ford Foundation, because he branded McCarthy's charges against General Marshall as "fantastically false." I find people who express doubts about such newspapers as the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, The Christian Science Monitor, the Milwaukee Journal because they have condemned McCarthy.

Undermines Americanism

There is an atmosphere being created which is alien to America and most of all alien to Wisconsin, a state which led the way in years past in developing the dignity of the individual and emphasizing the importance of ideas. McCarthy, in my opinion, is now undermining that great pioneer effort.

I despise the system in Russia precisely because it is directly opposite to that pioneer Wisconsin idea which recognized the importance of the individual. I am sure that the United States can defeat Comnunism by emphasizing our concert of personal freedom. This does not mean the right to acquire material gadgets. I am not a free man because I drive an 8-cylinder, 180 horsepower car. I am free because I can state my own views, which are product of my own mind, openly and without fear. It is that right which all men all over the world long for and prize most highly.

We must do nothing in this country which can detract from that right, but it seems to me that the thing called McCarthyism is doing just that. That is why I entered this campaign. That is why I gave up my comfortable summer on the lake at Hayward. I am convinced that if Wisconsin voters understand this basic issue they will repudiate their junior Senator. Much of my campaign is aimed at McCarthy's record because I believe it is the way to convince the people of Wisconsin that his Communist campaign is essentially a coverup.

This has not been an easy campaign. Despite the assertions of some of McCarty's supporters on the national scene, we do not have a great deal of money. McCarty's campaign is being financed by the so-called Republican voluntary committee of Wisconsin which tries to palm itself off as the Republican party of Wisconsin. It is not the Republican party. It is only a relatively small group, financed by wealthy industrialists and business men. It has a very large campaign chest which is being used in behalf of McCarthy.

A committee of my friends is supporting me. The treasurer of that committee is Donald E. Semling of Merrill, Wis. This group is trying to raise money to build a campaign to retire McCarthy from public life and for my part I am stumping the state telling the people about the McCarthy record and answering questions through the new political device of the talkathon.

I guarantee to answer every question directed to me without equivocation. Though it is hard, tiring work I love every minute of it. The people of Wisconsin can have no doubt about where I stand and I'll state my chances on the inherent common sense of the Wisconsin voter.

Project Pygmalion

By Grey MacMillan

THE STORY: In order to forget an unfortunate love affair, Hector Fielding, an art instructor, decides to make a cultured man out of David Carlson, a truck driver, who is interested in photography. However, when one of Hector's friends mentions "Pygmalion," David reads the book by George Bernard Shaw and mistakes Hector's efforts for snobbishness.

KARL and Betty drifted in. I told them what had happened, and they were both sympathetic.

"David blames Hill's attitude on me, somehow."

"Here," said Betty. "Have some cocoa and cheer up. You know, Mark Twain says if you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous, he will not bite you, and that is the principal difference between a dog and a man."

Two weeks went by, and I went into a slump again, alternating between frenzied activity and fatigue. I kept on teaching students to paint.

There was one wistful little thing in my class, named Jill Ormond, who seemed shattered by my presence whenever I bent near to look at her work. I would see her tense brown hands begin to shake, and I'd be careful to criticize gently lest I unnerve her completely.

My off hours passed vaguely: eating dinner with a book propped in front of me, practicing golf shots on a driving range, doing the laundry and the weekly housecleaning. It was brutally hot. I stopped painting in the evenings. Kathy was in every fold of the drapes, in every shadow on the wall.

One stifling August afternoon I was up in Gallery 2, which had been newly redecorated with gray burlap walls, giving a gallery talk on Gauguin to a group of perspiring people. Suddenly on the fringes of the group I noticed David, his hair matted with sweat and his orange shirt clinging to him. I paused in mid-sentence. Several people turned to follow the direction of my eyes, and David reddened.

I finished my talk hastily, and worked my way over to where he stood. "Look, David," I said. "Please get it straight. I need somebody to help me, just as bad as you need somebody to help you."

I held out my hand, and he shook it. We were on a firm footing at last.

"It's my day off," said David. "Wanna eat dinner?"

• • •

WE stopped at a grocery store, where David bought an outrageously expensive piece of steak and an ice-cream roll. We let ourselves into the apartment with gasps of exhaustion and put the cream into the freezing compartment.

After my shower, I turned on the bedroom fan. While I dressed David lounged in the doorway discussing Dickens' "Great Expectations." He'd just seen the movie.

Suddenly he paused. "Do you use deodorant?" he asked, as though he had caught me eating live goldfish.

"Sure," I said. "Men need it more than women, you know. They sweat more." I was glad I'd had a chance to tell him.

When I went back to see how he wanted his drink, he was standing in front of the fan, half-dressed, and he turned to me uncertainly. "My clothes are so sweaty—" he began.

"Well, here, put on some of mine," I said, pulling open drawers and rummaging around. "Matter of fact, I have two shirts here that I haven't been able to wear since I got out of the service."

They fitted him fairly well, so I gave them to him.

As I was setting out a wooden bowl of potato chips, he came sauntering into the living room. He was starched and gleaming and indolent, and looked like a college boy on the way to his first class of the morning.

We sat down, and David said, "You know you said back there in the Museum that you needed helping. You've got everything so good—how can you possibly have any troubles? Bet you've got a lot of dames, too."

I made myself lean back and speak quietly. "But I don't want all of them. Variety doesn't appeal to me."

"So it's a dame! It's always a dame!"

• • •

ABRUPTLY, I began to tell David the story of Kathy.

Sometimes I got embarrassingly poetic, particularly when I was describing her night-black hair, her translucent skin, the aloof way she carried her head on her proud slender neck. And the pictures she painted, that were always so much better than mine. And the implacable hatred her parents held for me, for daring to be in love with their only child; the agony of our many quarrels, the lovemaking when we made up. The kisses and hopes, and plans for the future that never came.

And then the final break-up, when she told me about the art scholarship in New York; with her parents standing in the doorway, her mother triumphantly venomous, her father mutely apathetic. And the peculiar thing her father had said to me, fixing me with his faded blue eyes: "I don't think you'd ever be happy with her, son. Better put her out of your mind."

She sent me, parcel post, a box containing all the letters I'd ever written her. I let it stay under the bed for two months before I even opened it. And when I did, and lifted out the thick packets of letters, I felt as if I were dissecting the corpse of my love affair.

I took them into the living room and started a fire, in spite of the June day, and burned them. At first I re-read each one; then I began burning them in chunks.

And it was the next day that I first saw David at the Museum.

Sparkman to Campaign Tour

MENDENHALL, Miss (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, will open a two-week campaign tour with a speech here tonight.

The Alabama senator will speak at the high school stadium under the auspieces of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

His next scheduled speech will be at the Amvets National Convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., on Saturday.

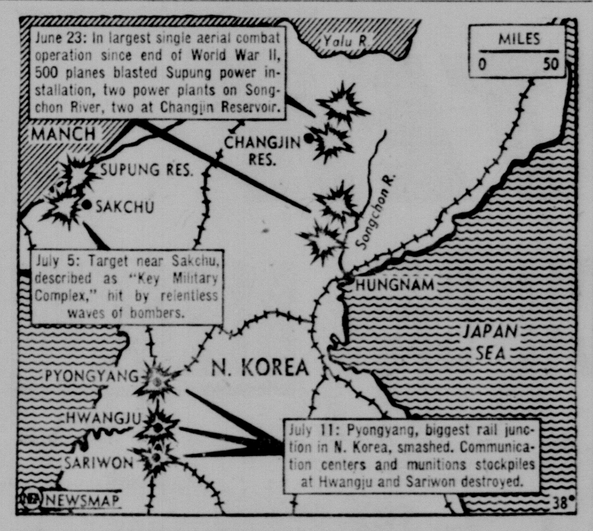

Expect High Toll In Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP)—The coming three-day Labor Day week end probably will bring an all-time high in traffic deaths for that holiday, the National Safety Council said today.

The council estimated that this year's toll may reach 480. Previous high was 461 last year.

"Forty million cars will be on the move this week end," Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said in a statement. "The summer's last holiday, plus the back-to-school rush from vacation spots, is expected to bring a new record for travel over a Labor Day week end."

Milk is pasteurized by being heated to 143 degrees Fahrenheit and then held at that temperature for 30 minutes.

Where Communists have suffered damaging blows recently from Allied fleets or planes is shown on map above. Until June 23, when 500 UN planes kayoed five power plants, the Allies had spared Red hydroelectric plants from air assaults in an effort to show the Chinese no invasion of their territory was threatened.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES—United States indebtedness rose to a high of nearly $260,000,000,000 as fiscal year 1951-52 closed June 30. Much of this was due to increased outlay to the Army, Navy, and Air Force as seen in the above newschart, but the year also saw a huge increase in funds given to foreign nations. A sudden deficit in Post Office operating expenses made unexpected demands not met in previous years.

The World Today—

Stevenson 'Needles' Gen. Ike

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Stevenson, reminded by President Truman to watch his steps, is trying to waltz Gen. Eisenhower into a corner.

When photographers were turning him around to get a good shot of him during his visit here a few weeks ago, Stevenson quipped: "I haven't been so much trouble since I was in dancing school."

At least his political dancing seemed a little rusty for he stepped smack on Truman's toes. And, like a man with bunions, Truman showed he didn't like it. This is what had happened:

Over a week ago, in a letter to an editor, Stevenson said he would, if elected, clean up the "mess" in Washington. Asked about this at his news conference last Thursday, Truman snapped he knew of no mess.

Then, asked if he felt he was a target, Truman said the Democratic party had to run on the record of the Roosevelt - Truman administrations—that's all it could run on.

Meanwhile, Eisenhower publicly approved some of the social legislation placed on the books under the Democratic administrations of the past 20 years.

This gave Stevenson an opportunity to needle Eisenhower with a crack about being a "me tooer."

Still, one of the oddities of this campaign is that the New Deal and the "Fair Deal"—at least under those names—have hardly figured in this campaign although they were issues in previous presidential races.

But late yesterday, at a Democratic rally in New Jersey, Stevenson showed that in a week's time he had polished up on his political dancing. He came out with lavish praise of Democratic doings for the past 20 years.

Speaking of his party, he said: "There have been mistakes, there have been failures, there have been false starts. There may be more, but the blazing record of growth and change and progress we have written in these two memorable decades can never be drowned in oratory and epithet.

"The Republicans are split wide open on foreign policy. On domestic policy only now are they slowly and reluctantly accepting the ideas successfully sponsored by the Democratic party years ago . . .

"As to their platform, well, nobody can stand on a bushel of eels. So where will he (Eisenhower) stand? Well, it looks more and more as though he were going to stand on our platform . . ."

Stevenson talked of the 20-year Democratic administration but not as a New Deal or a "fair" one. Since he's pretty nimble with words, he may have had a reason or maybe he just doesn't like slogans.

Still, Stevenson tried to make this speech do double duty. It could serve to reassure Truman Democrats about him. And it was a wide open taunt to Eisenhower to show whether he was a "me tooer."

WOUNDED FLY DOUBLE-DECKER STYLE—In Korea, a giant C-124 Globemaster of the U. S. Air Force's 347th Troop Carrier Wing carries nearly 100 wounded GI's. The huge double-decker airplane can carry in one load what would have required several of the smaller C-47's and C-54's. The wounded are flown to Japan from Korea for further hospital treatment.

Slack to Answer Charges Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ellis N. Slack acting assistant attorney general in charge of the Tax Division, goes before a House committee today to answer charges that he approved a "whitewash" report of a tax scandal probe.

The charge grew out of a grand jury investigation of internal revenue collections in the St. Louis district in 1951.

Four members of the grand jury testified before a judiciary subcommittee earlier this week about Slack's connection with a partial report the group made.

Henry J. Butler, foreman of the jury, told the committee the report was approved by Slack after he heard it read to him over the telephone.

This was the report that District Judge George H. Moore denounced as "astonishing" because it gave a clean bill of health to tax case handling in the area.

Judge Moore told the jury to continue its investigations with the result that from 40 to 50 indictments were returned. One named Collector James P. Finnegan, who subsequently was convicted of misconduct in office. He is appealing.

Slack has told reporters he did not "approve" the report because he didn't have the authority to do so.

Hallinan Opens His Campaign

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Vincent Hallinan, presidential candidate of the Progressive party, opened his campaign in Southern California last night with a demand for an immediate cease-fire in Korea.

The San Francisco attorney addressed a crowd in Culver City Stadium which police estimated at more than 9,000. The rally was orderly but afterward a group of teenagers hooted and jeered the crowd as it left the stadium.

Hallinan said he sent messages a few days ago to candidates of the major parties, Republican Dwight Eisenhower and Democrat Adlai Stevenson, asking them to urge President Truman to seek an immediate cease-fire order in Korea. Hallinan said he has not received replies from either candidate.

SALUTE TO "UNKNOWN SAILOR"—Disabled American Veterans attending their 31st National Convention in Boston, Mass., approved the above design of a memorial to American Navy dead. To be built in Honolulu and called the "Grave of the Unknown Sailor," the monument will be financed by voluntary contributions of D. A. V. members. It was designed by Paul R. Williams, planner of the Paris United Nations building.
